Welcome to the Upper Palatinate

In the Upper Palatinate, there is a great solidarity with refugees and asylum seekers. “Welcome to the Upper Palatinate” is the greeting of the autonomous Commandery Regensburg.

We, the Commandery, even for a year are committed among other projects in the refugee relief. As the increasing number of refugees from summer of 2014 dominated the headlines, the news triggered a great wave of helpfulness in the population of the Upper Palatinate.

We are voluntarily committed. Our Commandery wants this helpfulness arrives where it is needed. We, the members of the Commandery, make this work without payment. The vehicle must not rely on the game to.

This means that we can expect all treat each other respectfully, because we must not help - we want!

The “Welcome to the Upper Palatinate” action consists of three areas:

1. You and we have to learn to get along and to tolerate the culture and beliefs of others and respect!
2. Collection and storage of donated items.
3. The donation of goods in the closet, so you handed over for free to the need for refugees and asylum seekers who come from countries at war.

The here described points are just a few of our commitment and our work.

Hoping for an understanding with each other, we wish you good luck in our country.
